From the Town Supervisor

Several years ago, a man stopped by my office wondering if the town would be interested in buying land that he'd owned in Glenmont and Selkirk since the 1980s. These properties included the historic 150+ acre Heath Dairy Farm on three corners of Wemple Rd/Rte 9W which had been growing crops for more than 250 years, plus a 122-acre farm off Clapper Rd and 31 acres on Weisheit Rd.

Over 30 years of working as an environmental advocate, I've found that if lands are not protected, they will be developed. It might be in 5 years, it might be in 50 years, but they will be developed. Because of this, if we want treasured green spaces to remain green, we have to take responsibility and pay for them. This isn't saying that developments are bad. Rather, it's a recognition that just because a place has been green for as long as we can remember doesn't mean it will always be. Evidence of this is that the fourth corner of the Wemple Rd/Rte 9W intersection will soon host 96 apartments.

When I first started as Supervisor, I worked with the Town Comptroller to create the Farms & Forests Fund, a designated capital fund that can only be used to protect land. The fund is built through a combination of private donations and a portion of Town budget surpluses, and has grown to $2.2 million (which can only be spent on land protection).

The landowner has offered to sell the properties to the Town for $3 million, which is $1 million less than its appraised value. The Town Board this summer approved the purchase, using available capital reserves from the Farms & Forests Fund, Park Land Set Aside Fund (which can only be used for park projects), and federal American Rescue Plan funds.

The vision for the properties is to keep them in agriculture –

except for an 11.5-acre parcel in Glenmont that's beside an 8-acre plot the Town already owns. We'd like to combine these for a future 20-acre park. The remaining farmland properties would be protected with agricultural easements that would allow them to continue growing crops, but never grow subdivisions. Then, we could sell the properties to a private farmer (with the revenues going back into our Town capital reserves), work with a nonprofit to create a farm incubator, or continue leasing them for farming.

Call 518-439-9973 and ask for the Traffic Safety Officer for more Opportunities like this are rare. Scenic Hudson noted that this 300+ acre project would be the largest municipal farmland conservation effort in Hudson Valley history.

Whether or not to move forward with the purchase of these lands is now in the hands of voters. On the back of the November 8 ballot, Bethlehem residents will find two referendums: Prop #1 regarding an environmental bond for clean air, clean water, and green jobs; and Prop #2 regarding whether or not to protect these farmlands.

The choice is yours, so be sure to turn over your ballot when you vote!

You may be done with your Halloween Jack-o-lanterns, pumpkins and gourds on 10/31, but the earth isn't. So join our first annual Pumpkin Smash, held right up front by the attendant booth.

Have fun and take a family selfie sending 'Jack' back to the earth to make some compost, which can help grow more pumpkins next year!

Farms, Fields, and Forests

I am always hesitant to declare a favorite season, as each season has its own special kind of beauty. However, there is something to be said for the crisp air, late season blooming wildflowers, and the tinge of color the deciduous trees are just starting to show.

An important component of our Farms and Forest Conservation

Program is annual monitoring of conservation easement areas. At the bare minimum, annual monitoring visits are meant to assure that conservation area are not being developed. However, these site visits can also provide insight into the conditions of our Town's natural areas, provide an opportunity to talk with landowners, and to gain a better understanding of how natural landscapes in our Town change over time.

One of the properties I visited recently was the Pine Hollow Arboretum (PHA) in the historic hamlet of Slingerlands. In 2020, the Arboretum conserved 20 acres of its property in perpetuity through the Town's Conservation Easement Exemption program. If you haven't been there before, autumn is a beautiful time of year to visit.

On October 22, the Arboretum will be hosting its 4th annual Autumn in the Arboretum Event from 11am to 3pm. Enjoy a Fall afternoon with tours, pumpkin painting, cider belly donuts, live music by Ryan Leddick, birds of prey, crafts, and much more! Visit their website for more information and tickets. All proceeds to benefit this 501c3 organization.

News from the Town Historian

Did you know Bethlehem once had 15 school districts? During the common school era of the 1800s, one room schools were located in walking distance of the local farms and villages. It will come as no surprise that Slingerlands, District No. 9, and Selkirk, District No.2, had one room schools. But how about Houck's Corners (No.8) or Jericho (No.4)? The last to be created in 1911 was No. 15, Elsmere.

Today, Bethlehem has two main school districts, Bethlehem Central and Ravena Coeymans Selkirk, both created in the 1900s when the small districts joined together to improve education.

In other history news, the Bethlehem Historical Association lecture series, in partnership with the Bethlehem Public Library, continues on October 12 with a talk called "Coping with Life's Necessaries" presented by Ian Mumpton from Schuyler Mansion. The museum at the Cedar Hill Schoolhouse, 1003 River Road, Selkirk, is open Sunday afternoons from 2 to 4 PM through October 30.

The Friends of the Slingerland Family Burial Vault will present a living history walking tour of the hamlet of Slingerlands on October 16. For details go to The Slingerland Family Burial Vault. Bethlehem's historian Susan Leath welcomes your historical inquires. Email her at sleath@townofbethlehem.org.
